

About the Organizer

Osmania University

Osmania University, established in 1918, is the seventh oldest in the country, third oldest in South India and the first to be established in the princely state of Hyderabad.

In 2017 it is reaccredited with A⁺ grade by NAAC and conferred with status of University with Potential for Excellence (UPE).

Recently Osmania University celebrated 100 years of its impactful existence-Centenary Celebrations.

Department of Education

Osmania University Training College came into existence and started functioning with effect from 31/08/1928. At that time B.T. Degree was awarded after successful completion of the programme. In 1947, the college was shifted to the University campus and was renamed as University College of Education. Under the centrally sponsored scheme, to strengthen and reorganize teacher education, a number of teacher education institutions were upgraded to CTE, and a few into IASE centers of excellence, research and innovations. Accordingly the University college of Education, Osmania University was upgraded to the status of IASE during the year 1996-97. In 2018 it is again renamed as University College of Education. Centre for In-service Teacher Education, Department of Lifelong Learning are also located in the same campus.

Hyderabad is the capital of Telangana state. The tourism places: Charminar, Golconda Fort, Ramoji Film City, Shilparamam, and Salarjung Museum etc.

International Conference On Quality Teacher Education vis-a-vis School Education

24th and 25th January 2019

Organized by

Department of Education
University College of Education
Osmania University
Hyderabad – 500007
Telangana State, India

About the Conference

National Curricular Framework 2005, Right of children to Free and compulsory Education Act 2009 and fundamentals enshrined in the Constitution of India – forms the basis for ‘National Curricular Framework for Teacher Education (NCFTE, 2009). International Commission on Education for the 21st century -‘Learning: The Treasure Within’ envisioned the concept of learning throughout life as one of the keys to the 21st Century with emphasis on four pillars as foundations of education: learning to know, learning to do, learning to live together, learning to be.

World Development Report 2018 states that in many countries and communities learning is not happening in schools. Schooling without Learning is a terrible waste of precious resources of human potential. Students learn very little in many education systems around the world: even after several years of schooling, millions of students lack basic literacy and numeracy skills. Worldwide, hundreds of millions of children reach adulthood even without the most basic life skills. This learning crisis is a moral crisis. When delivered well, education cures a host of societal ills, but the benefits depend largely on learning. Schooling without learning is a great injustice. When improving learning becomes a priority, great progress happens. Change is possible only when systems commit to “Learning for all”.

In the light of the above initiatives & concerns a Two-day International Conference on “Quality Teacher Education vis-a-vis School Education” is scheduled.

Objectives of the Conference:

1. To critically examine the system of Teacher Education within the broader curricular Framework of School Education.
2. To review the Teacher Education in the light of present day demands.
3. To explore ways of improving learning among Students.
4. To evolve the strategies to enhance the humane aspects of Teachers.
5. To discuss the roles and responsibilities of various stakeholders.

Sub themes of the Conference

- Quality Indicators for Teacher Education
- Strengthening Teacher Learner Interaction
- Innovations in Pedagogy
- Learning Challenges
- Linkages with School Education
- Happiness @ Learning
- Issues Related to Teacher Education
