Company Profile:

Curefit (www.cure.fit) was founded by Mukesh Bansal , former founder of Myntra.

CureFit, was envisaged as a platform for health and wellness, expects to offer products and solutions for preventive and curative healthcare that will combine engagement, coaching and delivery through a mix of online and offline channels.

Curefit will be an end-to-end solution that will enable users to take full control of their health, improve quality of life and reduce long term healthcare costs.

Consumers will be able to enjoy better quality of life, reduce the probability of falling sick and significantly reduce risks for long term chronic diseases.

The idea behind Curefit is that people, who are fit, should not have to fork out more for healthcare needs. Instead the startup aims to award points for every positive fitness routine undertaken by the customer, which can then be exchanged for actual medical spends, if any.
