

COURSES OFFERED

Department of Microbiology, Osmania University is offering UG in constituent and affiliated colleges in Microbiology, with combination of other subjects like Zoology, Chemistry, Biotechnology, Genetics and Computer Applications. The department is offering PG course in Microbiology in main campus and affiliated colleges of Osmania University. Keeping pace with advanced knowledge, the department has updated the curriculum and introduced the Choice Based Credit System. The department is also having full-fledged Ph.D. program in Microbiology. The Department has recently started M.Sc. Fermentation Technology as self-financed course at Osmania University.

ADMISSIONS

The admission process for M. Sc. is strictly according to merit from the entrance test conducted by the university. The department is offering PG course in Microbiology at Campus and affiliated colleges and Fermentation Technology in OU campus. The course provides vast knowledge for the student to go towards building their career in cutting edge technology and higher education. For Ph.D program, students are selected through the university entrance examination. However, CSIR, UGC and other fellowship holders can apply directly for the Ph.D course under category I.